

Remembrance Day tribute for war dead

A parade of representatives of numerous organizations, wreaths banking the field-stone cenotaph, and an inter-faith memorial service marked Remembrance Day 1989 in Elk Point last Saturday.

A sizeable parade followed RCMP Constable L. Stockley, drummer Jason Morris and Cadets Dennis Jasinsky and Terry Wakaruk of RCSCC Arrowhead, St. Paul, down the three block route past the reviewing stand at the Elk Point Post Office, and southward to the cenotaph.

Following the singing of O Canada, a prayer of invocation was offered by Reverend John McGregor, former pastor of Elk Point Baptist Church. John MacCrae's famous poem, 'In Flanders Fields,' was recited by Mark Woytkiw. The sad refrain of the Last Post and the stirring notes of Reveille punctuated the two minute period of silent remembrance.

Wreaths were laid by RCMP Cst. Doug Huskins, on behalf of the Government of Canada, Pat Vincent, on behalf of the Government of Alberta, Deputy Mayor Allan Frankiw on behalf of the Town of Elk Point, Council-

Open House

Considerable input from Grey's constituents

By Irene Magnusson

Deborah Grey, Member of Parliament for Beaver River, was in Elk Point Sunday, November 12 to answer questions from constituents, and hear their concerns.

The Further Ed building seemed too large a meeting place, when the discussion started, but soon filled with a good number of persons showing interest in the workings of the government. Miss Grey asked for input, and soon got plenty.

The first was a discussion of Free Trade, with some feeling it was to the detriment of agriculture, while others had expressed that it was good for manufacturing and other trade.

The Goods & Service Tax (GST) received a good bit of attention; no one seems to like it or want it, yet many agreed with the government's (hoped for) objective of cutting the deficit. The fear seemed to be that, while the tax would bring in revenues, the deficit would diminish. Grey read from the results of a questionnaire she had prepared and circulated which indicated that many citizens were not against cutting of expenditures, even if, in some cases, it left less government funds in their hands.

Grey said the appointment of the "elected" senator, Mr.

Waters, is "on hold". She added that the more heavily populated provinces (Quebec and Ontario) would not want to relinquish power, once they have it, as now with their 24 senators each, as compared to 24 for the whole of the west.

On the abortion issue, presently before the House, Miss Grey has circulated a questionnaire on this too, and hopes to get a good feedback from the electors, and stated she would vote accordingly as per election promise, regardless of her personal convictions.

A further discussion on the GST ensued, with various points touched on, such as the amount of the Tax (9 percent), and that it must be visibly shown on sales slips. Other provinces have Sales tax, also other countries, was brought out. The big objection seemed to be that, even with the Tax, the deficit may not decrease.

Grey suggested that if constituents have questions, of any government department, to send them to her, she will forward them to the responsible area. She will answer

Three charged with murder

Three people have been charged with the first degree murder of Geoffrey Dorey of the Elk Point area.

Alma Fryingpan, Flora Fryingpan and Victor Johnson appeared in court Tuesday. They were remanded in custody and will make their second appearance in court on Nov. 28.

Dorey's home burned to the ground Oct. 4, after which local RCMP launched an extensive search into Dorey's disappearance. It was not until later that RCMP positively identified skeletal remains found in the burned home as being those of Dorey.

lors Bob Smith and John Zenko for the County of St. Paul, Mrs. Bertilla Bent representing the mothers of servicemen and women, Wes Scott for the Royal Canadian Legion's Elk Point Branch, and representatives of both adult and youth groups in the community.

The gathering moved into the Pioneer Circle Hall, where Legion President Helen Moneta gave a welcoming address, placing special significance on the wearing of the traditional poppies for Remembrance Day. Deputy Mayor Frankiw was next to take the podium, urging the younger generation to carry on the tradition of Remembrance Day. Freedom and independence are 'too often taken for granted,' Frankiw said, adding that 'only by reflecting on the past can we truly appreciate these.'

Councillor John Zenko spoke on behalf of the County, attributing the past 40 years of freedom to the men and women who gave their lives in World War II, and to 'those still among us who gave great sacrifices.'

Pat Vincent read messages from MLA John Drobot, who commended the community commitment of Elk Point in a day when 'Remembrance Day means less and less to more and more,' and urged that the meaning of the occasion be instilled in today's children, and from Prime Minister Brian Mulroney. Mulroney noted that this year marks the 75th anniversary of the beginning of World War I and the 50th anniversary of the beginning of World War II, and paid homage to not only those who lost their lives in the conflicts, but to those who were wounded in body and spirit.

Reverend McGregor and Reverend Sam Donaldson of Elk Point United Church shared the Remembrance Day service, with Gabrielle Bayduza serving as pianist for two familiar hymns, The Lord Is My Shepherd and O God Our Help In Ages Past. Rev. McGregor called it 'a joy and a privilege to remember the valor of the Armed Forces,' and offered a prayer of thanksgiving for peace in our time, and for those who brought about and preserved this peace.

Rev. Donaldson read from Psalm 33, and went on to give an uplifting message regarding the 'encouraging resurrection of democracy' as the Berlin Wall is torn down and East Germans regain the freedom they have been denied for so long. However, he cautioned against walls of apathy, accommodation and atheism which he felt are being built in our own country, and urged Canadians to 'get back to Christian values' and bring the nation 'back to where it stood 40 years ago, strong and proud.'

Following the final benediction and God Save The Queen, the Legion hosted a lunch for all present.

Grey answers constituents questions questions on her own affairs.

The Reform Party, of which Miss Grey is the first elected member, is presently studying the possibility of expanding into other areas, such as provincial government, or to attempt to become established in other provinces, such as in the East. They are not anxious to have another election called before the normal span of time, Grey stated.

Questionnaire Results

The questionnaire shows the thinking of at least those who bothered to return it. Some of the percentages are surprising, with 75% disagreeing with the proposed $3.5 billion in tax increases, 65% against both the introduction of revamped federal sales tax and a personal and corporate surtax of up to 5 percent, 55% against the government opting out of unemployment insurance, and 50% disagreeing with closure or cutbacks to all military leases. On the pro side, 75% agree with scrapping the purchase of nuclear submarines, 70% with taxing back of the baby bonus and old age pension from those in high income brackets, 65% with $1.5 billion cuts in federal programs and 50% with the $500 million subsidy cutback to VIA Rail.

A whopping 95% agreed that the Federal Government should not get any more money through a National Sales Tax until it demonstrates an ability to better manage the money it already has. The same overwhelming percentage agreed that individuals wanted for murder charges in the USA should be extradited even though they face the death penalty. Three quarters of those who responded were against the Meech Lake Accord, as it stands, becoming part of the Canadian constitution.

Don't look now, but Christmas is just creeping up on us. And you know what that means: Christmas shopping time!

Remember all the hassle last year? Bundling up the kids in the morning darkness, driving for two hours on a slippery highway and then another half hour in thick weekend city traffic, looking through every one of the three hundred and some stores in the megamall and still not being able to find what you knew little Sam wanted the very worst, or anything at all for Uncle Albert, or a dress for the Christmas party that wouldn't elicit rude responses from the credit card okaying machine.

At noon, you had to stand in a long lineup to get a bite to eat, sit in a vast wasteland of littered tables amongst oddly dressed youths with spiked green hair and razor blade earrings while you drank your coffee, drag the kids away from the perpetual motion machine so you could get back to your appointed rounds of shopping, and finally herd them out to the car and off to another mall where you couldn't find anything either, and hand to fork out another $20 for supper. Then it was back on the road, and home through the blowing snow for two hours. Wasn't it fun??

Remember all the hassle last year? Bundling up the kids in the morning darkness, driving for two hours on a slippery highway and then another half hour in thick weekend city traffic, looking through every one of the three hundred and some stores in the megamall and still not being able to find what you knew little Sam wanted the very worst, or anything at all for Uncle Albert, or a dress for the Christmas party that wouldn't elicit rude responses from the credit card okaying machine.

At noon, you had to stand in a long lineup to get a bite to eat, sit in a vast wasteland of littered tables amongst oddly dressed youths with spiked green hair and razor blade earrings while you drank your coffee, drag the kids away from the perpetual motion machine so you could get back to your appointed rounds of shopping, and finally herd them out to the car and off to another mall where you couldn't find anything either, and hand to fork out another $20 for supper. Then it was back on the road, and home through the blowing snow for two hours. Wasn't it fun??

And then, a few days later, you went downtown after lunch to get the mail, and decided you'd wander down main street. You looked in a store window, and there it was: a gift that Uncle Albert would really enjoy. You walked a bit further, and there was the most gorgeous dress in the world—with a big '20 per cent off, Today Only!' sign perched on top of the rack, and a proprietor who was glad to take your cheque. Little Sam's gift was a bit harder to find—none of these stores had it either. But in the last store, when you asked the clerk if there just might be one hidden away somewhere, she said, 'Oh, we have half a dozen coming in next week. Can I put your name down for one, and call you when it comes in?' On the way back out of that store, you saw the very shirt you'd bought for Cousin Pete—only $15 cheaper. And right beside it was a whole rack of the sweaters you'd looked in ten city stores for, for brothers Bill and Bart, and decided you'd never find, and bought something else you didn't like half as well, but hey! you were getting desperate.

On the way back up the street, everyone you met wished you a Merry Christmas, and one of your friends hailed you with, 'Let's go for coffee,' and insisted on buying you a piece of mince pie to go along with it. While you were enjoying your snack, two more friends came along and invited you to go carolling one evening. On the way out of the cafe, the smiling proprietor handed you a new calendar, ready for the new year, and wished you the best of the season. You walked a few steps to your car, and were home in five minutes, with lots of time to hide away your purchases before the kids got home from school.

Remember that?

It would have been a lot easier to shop in Elk Point in the first place, you'd remarked later to a friend. No gas, no bad roads, no hassle, no hurry, and the bonus of friendly, personalized service from people who really care if you get what you want, because then you'll be back to see them again.

So...when are we going shopping? In Elk Point, that is, of course! This afternoon would be just fine, before everyone else gets the same idea. Let's go!

Where Winter Never Reaches

Make your check (cheque) mark

By Irene Magnusson

I wonder if any of the rest of the citizens of our land ever get tired of the quantities of mail that get stuffed in our boxes, requiring a check (cheque) mark? You know the kind I mean - it comes in long, crisp white - or fancy colored - envelopes, the kind you or I wouldn't buy, because they are too expensive. Inside are the two or three or even four sheets of - again, expensive, top-grade paper - neatly covered with a carefully printed "want list", a masterpiece of prose, extolling the virtues of the selected cause that your check mark is required for.

No longer do these (perhaps) charities ask for a "donation", leaving the amount up to you and your conscience, and the thickness of your pocketbook. No, you, the source of all funding, the quintessential cheque-signer, are deemed too weak in the mind to decide how much you can - or will - give. You have to have a series of amounts listed off, ready for your check mark.

A relative of mine was almost in tears, one day, when I stopped to visit. She showed me a letter she'd gotten, requesting a donation. For years she had sent along her $5 when the invitation to give had arrived. About what she could afford, she felt. (And who better to make that decision than the donor?) But this letter listed off "Check the amount of your donation: $25(), $35(), $50(), $100()" - and so on. And then, very pointedly, one amount was circled in a nice shade of blue, certainly a nudge to suggest that NO ONE would be chintzy enough to offer any LESS than that amount.

You know the letters I mean. You get them all the time. They come from charitable health organizations, such as Diabetic Foundation, Multiple Sclerosis, Heart Foundation, Liver Foundation, Kidney Foundation, Lung Society, (which used to be T.B. Seals), Cystic Fibrosis Society, to name but a few. I am sure there are as many more I can't recall at the moment, on diseases alone. What happened to our Medicare? Don't they look after patients with these problems?

Now, you're going to say - But this is for Research! So be it. And do you ever wonder how much of your carefully listed for your check mark () dollars goes into the research - and how much goes for the fancy paper, the exquisitely articulate wordage, the offices on Sparks Street, Toronto?

Then there are the other types of carefully listed () "charities", under such names as Greenpeace, Project Ploughshares, Amnesty International, C.A.R.E., CUSO, CFSOD, Save the Children, etc., etc., all along to Friends of (anything), The Earth, Wildlife, Lakes, Ozone, Ducks, Bears, Whales, Elephants, Weasels, Koala Bears, Panda Bears, Teddy Bears, Whooping Cranes, non-Whooping Cranes and Doorknobs. And many others too numerous to mention.

Or, should I say, too tiresome to mention? Everyone has their pet peeve, their project, their cross to bear. And every one of them want your money. Now I guess I don't begrudge them the 'project' of their heart's desire. If you believe in something strongly enough, I guess you should go out and work for it, even fight for it, if it's that important. And of course it is legal, so therefore allowable, to request help from other dedicated persons who want the same things, are reaching for the same crown of achievement. So ask.

But, darn it, DON'T tell me HOW MUCH I'm supposed to give to whatever charity/good works/save the world/hare brained/ etc. idea you come up with. I will decide whether I give or not - and how much.

I'm sure there are countless people who receive these () mark your choice requests, such as the elderly and alone, who don't get too much other mail, who take these requests very much to heart. They may feel pressured to give, far beyond what they can or should afford. I pointed out to my relative (mentioned earlier) that there was a very effective way to deal with these excessive (to her) requests. It involves folding the letter and its envelope (sometimes hard to do, as it is very good quality paper) into a rather small, tight ball, and dropping it carefully into the nearest wastebasket. I advised her, if it was too painful to defy these requests, to shut her eyes while doing it.

The very worst ones, with often the most pressure involved, seem to come from some self-styled saviors of mankind, who REALLY need the $100(), $300(), $500() amount at once! Just check off the amount enclosed (and they point at the center one, carefully circled) and get your cheque in the mail TODAY. Otherwise, they plead, they will have to CUT BACK - on something - and it will all be your fault. So check the right box, and sign the right cheque. (And they'll send you a tax receipt forthwith. Even if you don't have enough income to be taxed. (You certainly won't, if you check all those boxes).

I've noticed that many - or all - political party requests for funds come with these pre-conceived amounts listed, too. And heaven help you if you DO give that amount, for you will be hounded forever to repeat it. Make a stand, folks. Even if I do give (and I do), I am resolved NEVER to give the amount where you have () THEIR little box.

National 4-H Week Activities

4-H'ers enjoy fall fling

Over a hundred junior 4-H members, a dozen senior members acting as junior staff, and a contingent of 4-H leaders from throughout the Northeast Region enjoyed the 4-H Fall Fling last weekend in Elk Point.

Action got underway Friday evening with registration, a 'Spook House' and an air band concert.

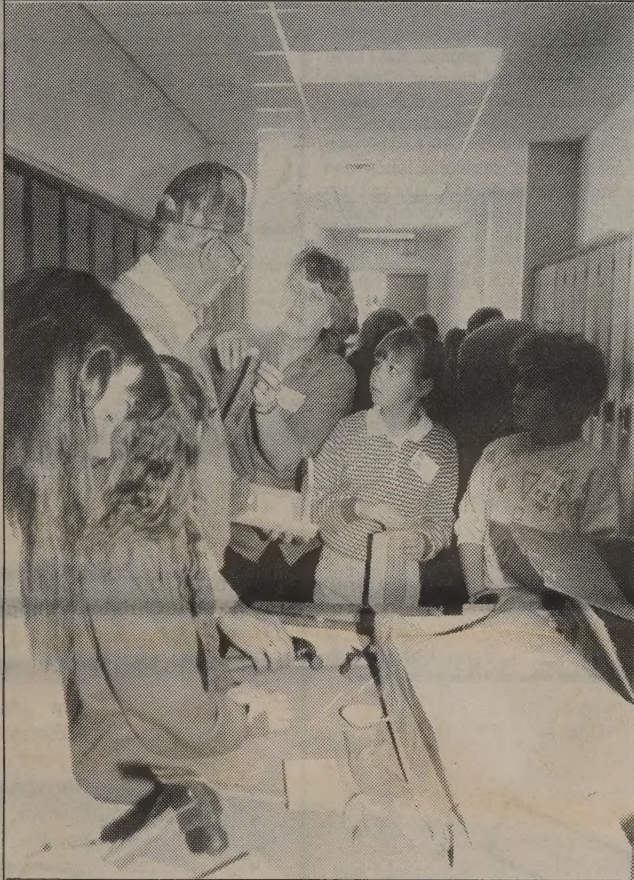

Participants were up bright and early Saturday, ready to 'rise and shine,' and to participate in some brisk pre-breakfast exercises. A special Remembrance Day presentation by the Royal Canadian Legion was followed by the first of four series of 'select-a-sessions', which covered topics ranging from potpourri craft to ice fishing to the Texas Line Dance.

In addition to the sessions, a scavenger hunt, mini olympics featuring such sports as passing carrots from one pair of knees to the next and whistling through a mouthful of soda crackers, and an exciting performance by the WunderDogs contributed to a very full day of activities and fun for all.

Resource people for the Fall Fling included Alf Fakeley of Elk Point, who instructed the carpentry workshop, Jocelyn McKinnon, DHE from Ryley, who helped the youngsters learn to 'clown around,' Elma Beckman, DHE from Bonnyville, teaching T-shirt artistry, Jack Seewalt of Vermilion, Ice Fishing, Millie Orr, Elk Point, Christmas Crafts, Elsa Sanders, Heinsburg, Potpourri Craft, and the Junior Staff, who taught Shrink Art, and supervised the numerous other activities.

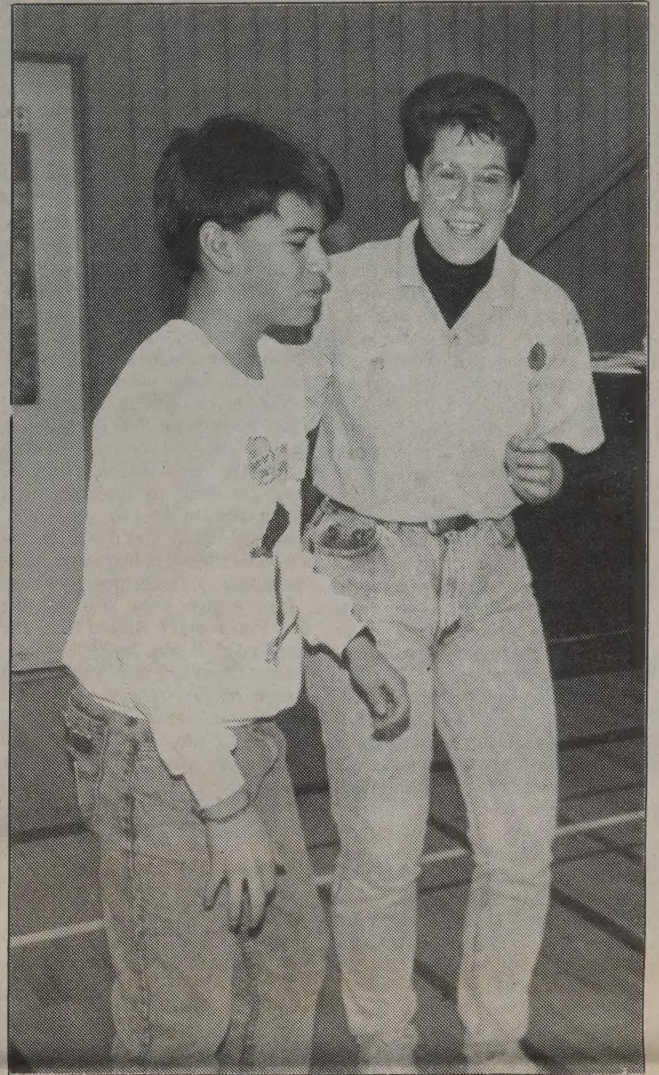

Junior staff members were Shelley Bespalko, Elena Drobot, Jeff Orr and Jodi Vogel of Elk Point MultiClub, Brian Davies and Melany Hamblin of Vermilion Light Horse, Kim Kurek of St. Paul Light Horse, Stacy Livingstone of Vermilion Beef, Patrick Manderson of Holden Beef, Jodi Miskick of Clandonald Beef and Johnathan Stone of Clover Crafters. The planning committee consisted of Ruth and Jodi Vogel and Joanne Bespalko of Elk Point MultiClub, Helen Skolarchuk of Heinsburg MultiClub, and DHE Monica King of St. Paul.

The Fall Fling was sponsored by Alberta Agriculture, Alberta Wheat Pool, Elk Point UFA, Northeast Regional 4-H Council, F. G. Miller High School, Elk Point Co-op, NADP, and the Elk Point MultiClub parents.

Ruthless Writers

The liveliest art

By S. Thompson

People have always loved the arts. Music, theatre and painting have been with us for thousands of years. But the "liveliest" art, the one that combines all the others, motion pictures, is a product of the twentieth century. I would like to take you through some of the early developments that have helped to make film what it is today.

To find the origins of film, we can go all the way back to 1824 and Peter Mark Roget, of Roget's Thesaurus fame. He put forth the Persistence of Vision Theory - that an image is retained a fraction of a second longer than it appears. Anyone who has been highway driving for a full day, or picking blueberries will recognize this phenomenon in the extreme. When you finally close your eyes, the image is still there. Roget's Persistence of Vision Theory got scientists experimenting. People created slotted drums that revolved. On a strip of paper a series of drawings were sketched. When the drum was revolved, the pictures would appear to move. So the first moving pictures were actually cartoons.

In 1888, George Eastman marketed his Kodak camera. Now people could take a series of photos, mount them in the drum and see them appear to move. The next year, 1889, Thomas Edison received from George Eastman long strips of supple photographic celluloid. He set about solving the problem of moving the film through a camera. The camera he devised had the shape and weight of a small piano, but his sprocket system is still in use today. The motion picture era was launched.

Edison, however, was so busy with his many other creations that he failed to see the potential of the movie camera. When taking out his patents he didn't bother to pay the extra $150 which would have secured for him the international copyright. Europeans took his movie camera, improved upon it, and the film medium was international from its very beginning.

The first movies were such things as waves rolling in and trains rushing. At first they had audiences fleeing in panic, but the effect soon became predictable and the public lost interest. Then cameras were mounted on trains and the travelogue was born. News was the next subject addressed by the moving camera. People were able to follow the Boer War on film. But the public's interest continued to wane and it looked as though Thomas Edison had made the wise decision about his $150.

What finally saved the movies was the introduction of story-telling, and that was in France. George Melies was a magician in Paris who discovered that by stopping the camera and moving things around, objects could seem to magically appear and disappear. He combined his magic tricks with pantomime to create hundreds of little stories. He broke new ground by using film in the theatre tradition.

Do you know what was the first western? It was Edwin Porter's "The Great Train Robbery", an incredible eleven minutes long. Filmed in 1903, it featured such innovations as filming outdoors rather than on a stage set. It introduced the art of cinematography, using the camera angles to develop the story. And it added something essential to the modern movie - editing. In his movie, "The Great Train Robbery", Porter switched the action between the train robbers trying to get away and the posse in pursuit. By speeding up the action between the two scenes, tension was built up. This movie created a revived interest in film and nickelodeons began to spring up everywhere.

Does anyone know who was the first movie star? Bigger than any star today? It was the little tramp, Charlie Chaplin. Within two years of making his first appearance on film there were Chaplin dolls and toys, look-alike contests and people were dancing the "Chaplin Walk". His gift for pantomime, his agility and his marvelous sight gags were adored by movie audiences. Chaplin started in 1913 with a salary of $150 per week. Within short years he was signing Hollywood's first million dollar contract. He went on to produce, direct and even compose the music for his pictures. I have only seen one full length Chaplin movie, "Goldrush". I went out of curiosity, but I stayed for the laughs. From the first frame, it was hilarious.

Another cinema giant had some similarities to Charlie Chaplin. They were both born in England, in the year 1889, and both were knighted by the queen. This person however, restricted himself to directing with the occasional cameo appearance in his movies. I am speaking of Alfred Hitchcock. Growing up with his name as more or less a household word, I had taken him for granted. But I have since learned that his contribution to film was enormous. His career covered fifty years and spanned the silent and sound eras. He had his own special way of combining image and sound. He used visual shocks and surprises to hook the audience. He used his soundtracks to produce special effects such as a scream merging into a train whistle. He quickly established himself as a master of the film-sound medium. Fortunately, many Hitchcock movies are now out on video, and I rent them whenever I can. Two that I would recommend are "Rear Window" and "Torn Curtain".

And that's the fun of today's video revolution. There's something for everyone. And maybe by learning more about the history of the "liveliest art" we can make more informed choices about what it is we view today. The Elk Point Library is building a large collection of classic movies. Try them. I think you'll like them.

What's news at the library?

This is Canadian Children's Book Festival Week. The Elk Point Public Library is sponsoring the children's author, Kathleen Cook Waldron at the Elementary School, November 15th at 12:45 p.m. The library is also holding a book sale Thursday, November 16, 1 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. on Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday at the O.O.R.P. Flea Market, and at the Elks Hall 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Pick up a book for yourself and several for gifts. Children's junior, youth and adult books will be featured. When you buy a book, you will be eligible to enter your name in a draw for a free 1990 library membership.

A new fascinating addition to the library's video collection is the Royal Canadian Geographical Society's video "Search for a Tropical Arctic". Join scientists from around the world as they explore the remains of a great forest that grew in the Canadian High Arctic millions of years ago.

Three new music cassettes that just arrived are: "Twice Shy" by the group, Great White, "Reach for the Sky" by RATT, "Hold an Old Friend's Hand" by Tiffany.

There's a miracle called "Friendship"

That dwells within the heart,
And you don't know how it happens,
or when it gets its start...

But the happiness it brings you
Always gives a special lift
And you realize that "Friendship" is God's most precious gift.

To all you very dear friends
Thank you from the Vincent
Lawrence family.

Community honors chuckwagon champ

By Karen Bensmiller

On November 4th, more than 350 people from Dewberry and area turned out in honor of Buddy Bensmiller. Buddy won the Calgary Stampede Chuckwagon races both in 1979 and 1989.

A large sign which named Dewberry home of Calgary Stampede Chuckwagon Champions, was unveiled. The sign will carry Buddy's name for each of his wins along with the name of Bruce Craig, who also won the championship at Calgary in 1981.

On hand to congratulate Buddy were Deputy Prime Minister Don Mazankowski, Lloydminster MLA, Doug Cherry and members of the Chinook Centre, Bev Blue and husband, Kim, Doug Armstrong and John Kennedy. His outriders, Dale Gray and Randy Armstrong were also in attendance. Norman Cuthbertson and Roger Moore, his other two outriders, were unable to attend.

Presentations were made by Deputy Prime Minister Don Mazankowski, MLA Doug Cherry, Dewberry Board of Trade, Dewberry Agricultural Society, the community and Brenda Wyness.

Buddy's lead outrider, Dale Gray, said a few words and made a toast to Buddy.

The entertainment included Audrey Rainey singing a couple of songs, Tanya and Landon Bowman playing violins, Kyle Jones with his fiddle and Jeff Nelson and Dennis Rewuski doing a skit as the J & D Combo.

Buddy thanked his outriders, the Chinook Centre sponsors, all of the local groups and his family.

The evening was very enjoyable and will be long remembered.

Huge craft show and sale coming next week

Over fifty tables and an outstanding variety of quality handicrafts will be offered November 25 and 26 in St. Paul, at a Craft Show and Sale presented by the newly formed Country Crafts Council. Located in the St. Paul Legion Hall, the event goes from 11:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Saturday and 11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on Sunday.

Admission of $1 entitles adults to a chance at numerous beautiful door prizes donated by the craftspeople. Children 12 and under will be admitted free, but must be accompanied by an adult. Seniors will be welcomed without an admission charge.

Brenda Patroch of Elk Point, who is one of the organizers of the event, says there is an outstanding lineup of top quality work for the sale. The work of each booth holder was judged before the tables were allotted.

Well known artist Bernie Brown will offer numbered prints in his unique prairie style, which Patroch is 'really excited about.' Bernice Borysiuk of Mannville will be there with her wheat weaving, a lady from Moose Jaw will offer paintings on saw blades and cast iron frying pans, and an old country woodworker will display his craft. Other tables will offer everything from Siwash sweaters to hand-poured chocolates, with such unusual crafts as antler art, Indian drums, etched glass and handmade silver jewellery as well as quilts, ceramics, moccasins, Christmas decorations, toys, and much more.

Lunch, including homemade soup, chili and sandwiches, will be for sale, just in case all that shopping makes you hungry. Smoking will be permitted in the lunch room, but not in the rest of the hall.

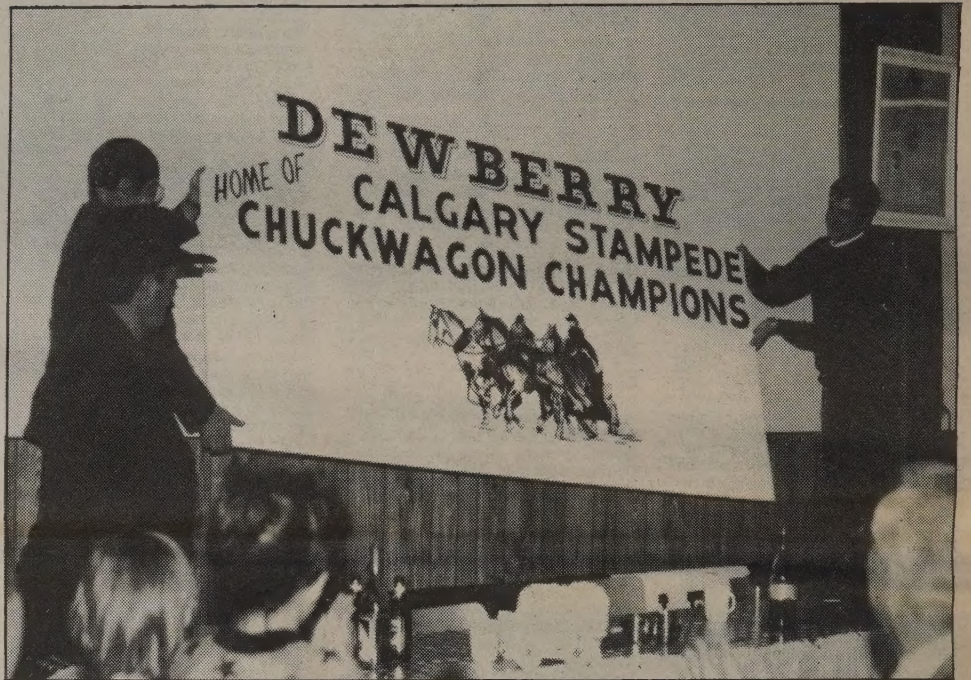

Make sure to take advantage of this great opportunity to find the perfect gifts for the special people on your Christmas list.

Dieter's prayer

For those of you eager to read the poem offered by Sid Holthe at the ACA Forum in Cold Lake, here it is:

DIETER'S PRAYER
Lord grant me the strength
That I may not fall
Into the clutches of cholesterol.
The road to hell is paved with butter,
Cake is cursed, cream is awful
And Satan is hiding in every waffle.
Beelzebub is a chocolate drop,
Lucifer is a lollypop.
Teach me the evils of Hollandaise,
Of pasta and gobs of mayonnaise,
Of crisp fried chicken from the South

If you love me, Lord, shut my mouth.
Contributed by Rev. Tom Welsh
Scottsdale, Arizona.

Home of Champions ...

Rick Rewuski, President of the Dewberry Board of Trade and Morley Dennill, President of Dewberry Agricultural Society unveiled this sign as Buddy looked on.

Oilettes welcome ten new members

At our Oct. 25th Open House, the following new members joined Oilettes: Diane Proskiwi, Christine Uttley, Michelle Zarowny, Melanie Dustan, Marguerite Friesen, Ginnette Glover, Gillean Cousins, Sherlyne Proskiwi, Desiree Thir, Sonja Yarmuch.

We started out our New Year on Sept. 14th by having Verona Lee Flanders try to teach us wheat weaving. To our amazement we all completed our project. Then on Sept. 25th, eight brave riders ventured out to the Mayland Trail Company to enjoy a one hour trail ride and corn roast. The weatherman was cooperative and fortunately, we had a beautiful day and no one minded being a bit stiff the next day.

We have an exciting year planned with some activities including a sleigh ride, car rally, craft night and funspiel. Why not come out and join the fun? For more information call Moira Holliday at 724-2668 or Faye Sommerville 724-2036.

Hospital Auxiliary back in the swing of planning

By Irene Magnusson

Twelve members and one guest gathered in the Elk Point Hospital Meeting Room to discuss matters pertaining to the full steam ahead fall activities of the Auxiliary; Gloria Lecopoy in the chair.

Treasurer Elsie Oryshchuk delivered the financial statement, showing a good balance. Violet McFadyen reported all well in the canteen, and a few welcomed donations received. Sales are not high, but continuing.

The Annual Convention of Auxiliaries and Hospitals is to be November 28 to 30, in Edmonton, but no volunteers offered to attend. Registrations are due October 31st, so it is unlikely there will be anyone from Elk Point going. No one had photos to enter in the contest, either.

Agnes Moroziuk has resigned as secretary. Several nominations were declined by members, with Irene Magnusson finally agreeing to take the job until the Annual Meeting.

Ideas for Christmas tray favors were discussed, and the evening of Nov. 14 selected as suitable for making these. All members to meet at 7:30 p.m., in the meeting room. A suggestion to donate to the Pediatric ward, instead of exchanging gifts among members (at the Christmas party) was discussed, and accepted. The November meeting is traditionally the Christmas party, this year Nov. 27, 8:00 p.m.

Elk Point Hospital pins with logo, have been received by the members, with thanks expressed to the Hospital Board. These are very attractive.

Once again, the fact that none of the many gifts purchased for the hospital have the Auxiliary's name on as donor was discussed. It was felt this would not be a major expense, and would make the Auxiliary's efforts seem a bit more permanent and worthwhile. This will be looked into.

Agnes Moroziuk had taken a picture of the quilt made up of squares showing all Hospital Logos and/or names in the Northeast Region of Hospital Auxiliaries, made in the past year and donated to the Alberta Hospital Association. This picture is being framed, and will soon be ready for hanging. The Elk Point Hospital square was created by Violet McFadyen, showing a lovely Elk head, as the Elk Point Hospital, at the time, had not selected its logo. Watch for this framed photo in the near future.

Adella Jennissen reported on the continuing collection of coupons and UPC signs, whereby the group hope to add to their coffers, and handed out the latest lists of eligible items and copies of the Fundraise Booster. Coffee and squares were enjoyed, following adjournment by the chair.
